ANTECEDENTS OF LEADING ACTORS. · Honor and shame from no condition rise-

Act well your part-there all the glory lies." Mrs. Siddons was formerly a lady's waiting maid; Forrest, the American "howler" was an errand-boy in a Philadelphia grocery-store; Murdoch is the son of a baker, and used to serve his father's customers from a large basket which he carried on his head; Billy Burton was once a "printer's devil" in a London printing office; Barney Williams was, for many years, a regular New York "dock-walloper; J. R. Scott, when a "peevish boy" served as eabin "flunky" on an oyster vessel in the Phil-adelphia trade; Charlotte Cushman, before she turned actress, made a living for herself. and mother and sister. by the needle, (all honor and praise to her!) Collins, the Irish comedian, served an apprenticeship under a Dublin bar-ber, and is even unto this day reckoned an excellent "shaver;" Charles Matthews was a "gentleman born," but was so unfortunate as as to lose his title; J. B. Roberts is the "son of a gun-swith," still living in Wilmington, Delaware; J. E. McDonogh was formerly a butcher, and used to "kill for Keyser." whose slaughter house was in Spring-Garden, Philadelphia; one of the California "stars" is a native of Newfoundland, and is the son of a "mackereleatcher;" (we wouldn't give his name for the world-he'd be the death of us;) Ned Bingham was first a gallant soldier, next a clever actor. and now a vender of first-rate eigars and tobacco. George Jordan, the handsome and talented "fop" actor, served an apprenticeship to the printing trade, and is said to be one of the most rapid type-stickers ever "turned out" of Baltimore-(en passant, we hear that George has become disgusted with the stage, and intends resuming his "case" at the stand;) Placide commenced his public career by playing second-fiddle on a Mississippi flat-boat; J. E. Johnson was once a pill-maker in London, but finding mirth to be the better kind of medicine, he cast aside his mortar and pestle, and turned his attention and talents to comic singing, at which he is "stunning;" Garrick's father kept a tenpin alley; Laura Keene was ence a bar-maid in a London saloon, and could mix a "gin-sling" and a "brandy-smash" with the best of them; of McKean Buchanan's early life we know nothing-like "Topsey," we "guess he wasn't born, but growed;" Boureicault is the son of a Worcestershire gardener. which pursuit he followed several years before going on the stage-(this will account for his 'cabbaging' propensities;) John Brougham was raised in a charitable soup-house, in Dublin, hence he is called a "broth" of a boy; Chanfrau is a carpenter by trade; Charles Wheatleigh served several years at the tailoring business. A number of California actors rose from obscurity. One of the most "airy" of them sold "swill-milk" on the Five Points. New York, several years prior to his debut on the stage. It will be seen from the above that "poverty and low birth, the twin jailers of the daring heart," are not barriers to the attainment of fame and position in the dramatic pro-

A TALE OF UNREQUITED LOVE.—The editor of the Yreka Union relates as follows how he once fell in love and "got the mitten:"

We were never, kind reader, "desperately in love" but once, and that was with a red-no, auburn" haired girl with a freekled complexion, and who had but few pretentions to beauty; but then she had such really beautiful eyesdeep, liquid orbs, through which her soul in moments of tenderness looked out with a passionate fervor, and in joyous mirth flashed and sparkled with the light of a thousand-dew drops-diamonds we were going to say; but then we never saw a thousand diamonds. Her name was Laura-which when breathed softly by a very soft lover, is a very sweet name-and her clear ringing laugh fell all around you like a shower of silver bells. Moreover, she wore a dark wine-colored dress trimmed with lilae colored velvet and black fringe, with a neat little white collar of fine Ince, which is one of the prettiest of dresses, and has the effect to make a very plain girl look absolutly charming. She never perforated her ears to hang thereby a pendulum of brass and glass; and the only ornament on the little white hand, which needed none, was a plain gold ring, sacred to the memo-ty of a maiden promise. Well, one eveningit was moonlight in the summer time-we sat alone in the porch by the cottage door holding that little white hand in a gentle pressure; one arm had stolen around her waist, and a silent song of joy, like the "music of the night," was in our soul. Our lips met in a sweet, delicious kiss, and bending softly to her car we whispered a tale of passionate devotion-we proposed. and-the little red-headed vixen refused us!

A QUEER TRANSACTION .- We learn that on Saturday evening last, a citizen of Phillipsburg. for reasons best known to himself, disposed of his wife, four children, and his household and kitchen furniture, for the valuable consideration of 50 cents cash, and a second-hand black cloth coat. The purchaser of this valuable personal estate, was a young gentleman of some twenty summers, who is a teamster by profession. Whether the wife was consulted in the arrangement is not stated, but it is generally believed that the transfer was acceptable to her. The funniest part of the story is, that the husband, after giving the bill of sale, late in the evening of Saturday, craved a night's lodgings from the new proprietor of the goods and chattles, and was accommodated with a portion of the bed of two of the eldest children, were he snoozed away quite comfortably until morning. when he left the premises in perfect good humor. - Easton (Pa.) Times.

THE HINDOOS ON MATRIMONY .- A poor Hindoo having been released from the cares of this world, and from a scurvy wife, presented himself at the gates of the Brahma's paradise. " Have you been through purgatory?" asked the god.

.. No, but I have been married?" he replied.

seriously. "Come in, then, it's all the same."

At this moment arrived another defunct, who begged to go in also.
"Softly! Have you been through purgate-

"No, but what of that? Did you not admit one who had not been there more than I?" "Certainly, but he had been married!" "Married! I have been married twice!"

"Pshaw!" replied the Brahma. "Paradise is not for fools!"

A Horse Anecdore .- A Canadian friend of ours was telling us the other day how he managed to break a faforite horse of his of one trick, that of breaking his halter whenever he was fastened in the siable. Our friend placed the animal in question in a stable that stood exactly on the edge of a high bluff some thirty feet above the St. Lawrence. As usual, so soon as he was left alone, our pony broke his halter, backed outlof the stable door, and, as a necersary consequence, tambled heels over head into the river, disuppearing below the surface with the impetus and gravitation of his fall. He was next seen swimming for dear life, and heading in shore. He landed in a dripping condition, and was easily secured. Doubtless he pondered gravely over the lesson, for ever afterwards he never made the slightest attempt to break his

A SLANDER REFUTED .- A clergyman was charged with having violently dragged his wife from a revival meeting, and compelled her to go home with him. The clergyman let the story iravel along until he had a fair opportunity to give it a broadside. Upon being charged with the offence, he replied as follows:—"In the first place. I never have attempted to influence my wife in her views, nor a choice of a meeting. Secondly, my wife has not attended any of the revival meetings in Lowell. In the third place, I have not even attended any of the meetings for any purpose whatever. To conclude, neither my wife nor myself have any inclination to these meetings. Finally, I never had a wife."

DR. STEPHEN BAILY,
OFFICE NO. 477, THIRTHENTH STREET,
Four Doors South of Pennsylvania Avenue.

Dr. BAILY bega leave to inform the public that he can be seen at all hours, at his office, located as above. He feels assured that an experience of fifteen years' practice, with the large number of patients, and great variety of difficult cases that he has treated successfully, will enable him to surmount any difficulty, scientific or otherwise, relating to the Teeth. His own experience confirming the opinion of many men eminent in the profession, and especially Drs. Harris and I. and E. Parmly, has led him, long since, to discard all mercurial preparations for filling the teeth, also all Enamels, Gutta Percha, India Rubber and Coments for the construction of Continuous Gum Teeth, and that Percelain, mounted on Gold Plate, is the only reliable substance that can be worn in the mouth, as was most conclusively shown by the last American Dental Convention.

Although he flatters himself from his long residence and practice in Washington, he is favorably known to his managerous friends and patrons, he bogs leave to refer them to the following

From the late Rector of the Church of Epiphany, of this city:

DR. STEPHEN BAILY: Dear Sir-I desire to express my estaem for you personally, and my confidence in you as a superior dentist. The operations executed for me have been highly astisfactory. I hope that you may receive the patronage from my friends and the public that your skill so well deserves.
